

I have only recently added my name to the Wisconsin No Call list and the results have been gratifying. This law works for the citizens of Wisconsin. I strongly feel that the FCC should leave the Wisconsin law alone and allow us some peace and quiet. That our law is more restrictive than the federal law should be a matter of state's rights. Anything a business wants us to see can be sent in the mail which is much less annoying than telemarketers who won't take no for an answer.
